

I disagree strongly with the further deregulation of media ownership. In these times when the huge local networks (ABC,NBC,CBS) repeat each other constantly in terms of news reporting and try to sedate me with the most idiotic of programming choices-- there should be a safeguard in place to keep these already monolithic companies from occupying more media territory. Chairman Powell, please forgo your old standard of the market being your religion. Consider innovation and creativity and assure that they have a place in our media.
